Is CATL launching a Superfast charging battery in 2023?

Within eight months after the launch of the Shenxing superfast charging battery in August 2023, CATL has once again pushed the boundaries of LFP battery technology, ushering in the era of superfast charging for the whole industry. 1,000-km Super-Long Range Ensures Worry-free Travel

What is the CATL Shenxing supercharging battery?

"Our goal is to make the CATL Shenxing supercharging battery the standard for electric vehicles, bringing users a more convenient and freer travel experience," he added. CATL's innovation was announced just a month after BYD shocked the EV industry with its own agenda-setting launch.

What is the world's first LFP battery?

China-based Contemporary Amperex Technology Co., Limited (CATL) unveiled its Shenxing PLUS-- the world's first LFP battery that achieves a range above 1,000 km (621 miles) with 4C superfast charging. The Shenxing PLUS battery system surpasses the 200 Wh/kg energy density threshold for the first time.

How fast does Shenxing plus charge?

Aside from offering long range, Shenxing PLUS also charges fast. It can deliver a 600-km range in just 10 minutes of charging, far surpassing the usual batteries available on the market and realizing a true superfast charging speed of one kilometer per second.

Is CATL a Superfast charging era for new energy vehicles?

On its journey of continuous expansion of scientific frontiers and the utmost pursuit of a better life, CATL is ushering in a superfast charging era for new energy vehicles with a closed-loop supercharging ecosystem by integrating superfast charging battery, network, platform, and services.

How long can a battery charge an EV?

Both tech giants now boast they have batteries that can charge EVs in as little as five minutes. But on Monday, CATL upped the ante by announcing that its new Shenxing battery has a range of 320 miles, about 70 miles longer than BYD's stated range of 250 miles.
